

Contact: _____

Date: _____

Telephone: _____

Fax: _____

Quota International NEWS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

White House Photographers Judge Quota Photo Contest

(Washington, D.C.) White House staff photographers judged the first-ever International Photo Contest, sponsored by Quota International's We Share Foundation.

The contest attracted entries from Quota International clubs around the world. White House staff reviewed the photos and accompanying descriptions, then selected the winners based on photographic excellence in depicting Quota service projects.

The Quota club of Iloilo, the Philippines, captured the grand prize and $1,000 cash for an image of a deaf educator, who is supported by Quota International, working with his student. Other winners included the Quota clubs of Beenleigh, Australia, second place; and Cambridge, Md., third place.

Honorable mention was awarded to the Quota clubs of Gold Coast, Australia; Port Huron, Mich.; and Las Piñas, the Philippines.

(more)

...a worldwide network of service and friendship

QUOTA Photo Contest/p. 2

The We Share Foundation is a non-profit organization that supports the service work of Quota International clubs in 14 countries. The photo contest was sponsored by the Foundation's Volunteers in Action program, which was recently awarded a 2001 Blue Ribbon for Excellence from the United Nations Association, National Capital Area, in Washington. More information is located on the Internet at www.wesharefoundation.org.

Quota International clubs provide community service in local communities and network to provide relief in developing countries. Clubs offer opportunities for fellowship and fun and interaction with other members from around the world. For more information about Quota, please call local membership chair _____ _____ at [phone #] _____.

###